FRIENDS BY HIS CASKET.

A SIMPLE SERVICE OVER THE REMAINS OF LAWRENCE JEROME.

The Dead Man Looked as if He Stul Might Turn and Jest-Sad Silence in the Room Where Bright Good Fellowship Find Reigned - Some of the True Mourners Who Were There.

Friends of Lawrence Jerome stepped into the cool shadow of his drawing-room to-day and looked with a sigh on all that remained of the genial, witty, kindly man of the world. He lay with his head turned slightly toward his left shoulder and his right hand resting on his chest. He looked as if some jovial remark might make him turn and that the grayish mustache would spread out over smiling lips.

But no; the warm-hearted man whom everybody loved had been gay and jolly for the last time, and his friends filed into the suite of rooms on the lower floor of his late residence, 33 West Nineteenth street, and sat sadly around till the funeral service should begin over all that was mortal of him.

Billy Florence sat at the head of the coffin of his old-time friend in the deepest black. At 10,15 the Rev. Dr Prescott Evans, hav ing donned his surplice, entered the front room and read the simple Episcopai Church ritual for the dead. During all the reading friends-most of them men who had passed the meridian of life-stood and paid reverent attention. The whole service occupied only quarter of an hour. There was no singing. It was the wish of the family that the services should be of the simplest character.

At the close of the service Rev. Dr. Evans guid the family wished him to announce that the interment would take place later at the convenience of the family, and after a parting glance at the dead face the many friends withdrew.

convenience of the family, and after a parting glance at the dead face the many friends withdrew.

Mrs. Jerome did noi come on from Sharon, as she is greatly overworn, and her physician entreated her not to take this extra exertion on herself. The brothers of the dead man were present—Atwater and Issac—and also his son William Travers Jerome.

Among the mourners were Capt. W. J. Thompson, Samuel S. Løne, ex-Judge G. S. Bedford, ex-Mayor Wickham, Henry Watterson, Col. J. S. Jones, Major McLean, J. E. Smith, Frank Ketcham, Fred O. Gould, W. Bayne, Gen. Collis, John C. Wyman, William Woodward, jr.. Louis Messer, Col. Reed, Capt, William Conner, C. Bathgate, Jules Montant, F. E. Lund, John Hunter, Herman Gelrichs, J. Edward Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. David Shaw, Morton Freeman, William H. Master, John Russell Young, Henry Hart, John Stewart, jr., Alexander Taylor, Taylor Strange, Alfred D., de Cordova, Rufus Hatch, George F. William, Henry F. McDonald, the sculptor, T. M. Foote, and many others.

The casket was of wood, covered with black broadcloth, and having heavy silver handles, A silver plate was inscribed thus: "Lawrence R. Jerome, Born Jan. 12, 1820. Died Aug. 12, 1888."

Three magnificent palms and an exquisite ivy wreath lay on the lid of the coffin, and another ivy wreath, with white roses, stood at the foot.

The interment will be shortly after noon to-day in the Jeromes' private family vault

FUNERAL OF CAPT. M'DONNELL,

Arrangements Completed by His Late Comrades of the Police Force.

A meeting or the police captains was held in the Superintendent's room at Police Headquarters at 10 o'clock this morning, with a view of perfecting arrangements for the funeral of Capt. Charles McDonald, who died suddenly in the Prince street station-house yesterday morning.

The meeting was presided over by Acting Superintendent Byrnes, and Inspectors Steers and Conlin were also present.

A committee of five to draft appropriate resolutions, procure music for the occasion and to purchase floral tributes was appointed as follows: Inspector Steers, Chairman; Capts. Westervelt, Reilly, Clinchy and Capts. Westervelt, Reilly, Clinchy and Hooker.

The committee submitted a tenderly sym-pathetic and eulogistic preamble, with reso-lutions substantially as follows:

Resolved. That in the death of Capt. McDonnell, the Police Department has lost a faithful and emcient servant, who was distinguished for his courage, his promotiness in action and his untiring energy is the many trying duties of his position. We mourn him as a brave and zealous comrade and a firm and devoted friend, who had become endeared to us by his genial nature and amiable disposition.

R-so red. That we extend to the bereaved and sorrowing widow of our decessed comrade our most heartfelt sympathy in her great affiction, and we indulge the hope that our Heavenly F-ther, who isld als her her hope that our Heavenly F-ther, who isld als her her heavily upon her, may in his infinite compassion bring to her that consolation that comes from him sione.

The pall-bearers will be Capts. Clinchy, of the Eighteentn Precinct: Brogan, Fifteenth Precinct: Westervelt, Twenty-ninth Precinct: Reilly, Nineteenth Precinct: Garland, Seventh Precinct, and Gunner, Twenty-lifth Precinct.

These bearers will be the only escort from the police force that will accompany the remains to their resting place at Birmingham, Conn., the summer home of the family.

The acting Superintendent has ordered eight full companies of forty men each to attend the funeral in uniform, to march from the house to the church and thence to the Grand Central Depot.

the house to the church and thense to the Grand Central Depot.

Inspector Steers will be in command of the whole division, and will have as aides Capt. Anthony J. Allaire as Adjutant and Capt. Elbert O. Smith, of the scamer Patrol, as Sergeant Major.

The eight companies will be in command of Capts. Murphy, McLaughlin, Carpenter, Warts, Ryan, Hooker, Gastlin and Yule.

The funeral will take place at St. Anthony's Church, in Sullivan street, between Prince and Houston streets, at 10, 30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Prince and Houston streets, at 10,30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The route of the funeral procession will be from the late residence of the deceased, at 42 King street, to the church, thence to South Fifth avenue, to and through Washington Square, to Fifth avenue, and thence to the depot, where the remains will be placed in a special car on the 1 o'clock train for Birmingham.

The police escort will then disperse and the men will return to their respective station-houses. The pall-bearers will return to New York as soon as the funeral is over.

The Acting Superintendent has ordered that all commissioned officers in the force wear crape on their left arms for thirty days, out of respect to the dead Captain.

They Are Well Prepared to Meet the Crac Paterson Nine.

Next Saturday's game of ball between THE EVENING WORLD nine and the Delaware Juniors, of Paterson, N. J., will be the eading event of this season in Paterson.

Manager Phillips, of the Paterson nine, writes that too much cannot be said about his men, for they are first-class ball-tossers with a record that shows it.

Tickets to the game are selling at Paterson at a rapid rate and the presence of a large assemblage of spectators is insured.

Capt. Herzer, of The Evening World's team, is in the best of spirits over the pros-pects of a chance to meet "that crack club," and has put the nine in good shape for the What the result will be can only be guessed at, for the clubs are very evenly matched, and such a fact always makes the national

OR DIMES OR NICKELS FOR THE GIANTS' BASEBALL BATS.

Just Show that You Appreciate the Team's Good Work-Don't Be Discouraged by a Lost Game or Two-Manager Mutrie Thinks the Bat Presentation a Good Thing, Indeed.

There isn't a live man in this town to-day who isn't watching the grand work of the New York Baseball Club, and, seeing its sucess, who doesn't perceive that able management and good captaincy are in a measure responsible for that success

In fact the entire population of this fickle metropolis are fast becoming "cranks" of the highest order. The large attendance at recent games goes to show that the public is aware of the fact that now they have a nine who excel as a nine and not as individual players.

Tue Eventua World was quick to nerceive this, and ready as ever to supply its readers with a medium through which they may accomplish a purpose, conceived the idea of accomplish a purpose, conceived the idea of presenting for and in behalf of the public souvenir bats to Gotham's idols—the Giants. There is no harder working man, nor one to whom failure means more, than James Mutrie, but though at present on the top of the heap and complimented on all sides for the success of his efforts he still holds tenaciously to his belief that a manager cannot compel good ball-players to play good ball at all times. And Jim is right.

Speaking of the souvenir bats and newspaper work in baseball in general, Mr. Mutrie said:

"That's a good idea, and it will go, too." Nothing succeds like success."

The Evening World has achieved a success in the newspaper world, and we are getcess in the newspaper world, and we are get-ting there right rapidly as a pennant-winning ball team.

ting there right rapidly as a pennant-winning ball team.

"Why, yes, of course the boys will like the bats! Who isn't pleased to receive some proof that one's work is appreciated—if the work be good.

"Yes. I know the public are satisfied with the ball the boys are playing, and I think they should be. I am through with foretelling outcomes in championship races, but it seems to me that this year, with the nine we've got and the ball they are playing, that the championship should be ours."

"The Event of World believes the Giants to be the coming champions. They lost yesterday's game, it is true, and of course the croakers commenced again their croakings, but if games were not lost no games would be played. If the Giants won every ganie all interest and excitement would be gone.

But what the boys want just now is more base-hitting, and therefore let their admirers, each and all, follow the example set in the following list, send in their dimes and quarters; and do themselves what they always demand of the Giants—namely, "play ball:"

PAUPER CIGARMAKERS, TOO.

PRESIDENT HARRIS TELLS HOW FORFIGN-ERS RUINED THE TRADE.

Droves of Bohemians, Russians and Poles Imported to Werk Long Hours at Starva-tion Wages-The Trade Monopolized by Foreigners-Growth of the Tenement-House Evil.

Congressman Oates joined the other members of the Special Committee on Immigration to-day at the Westminster Hotel, and only Congressman Morrow was absent. Daniel Harris, of 363 East One Hundred and Fourteenth street, a cigar maker, was the first witness examined. He said he was President of the Cigar-Makers' International Union of America. There are 300 local unions in America. In 1863, when the witness began work as a cigar-maker, there were among cigar-makers 5 to 10 per cent, of foreigners. Now there are over 90 per cent, foreigners, a majority of whom are females. They are Bavarians, Bohemians, Poles, Slavs and Russians, Most of these women can speak no English. They are clannish, and when they

the business by working for less than an American can live on. The Bohemians came over in thousands in 1869. The American unions organized them, and they became alive to their own interests.

Then in 1877 a lot of Hungarians were imported, and they work almost every hour in the twenty-four. Since 1864 the wages of cigar-makers have been reduced fully 60 per cent. In 1864 cigar-makers got $18 a thousand for hand-made cigars. Now $12 is a good price, and the employers limit the product of the employees.

Mr. Harris attributed this state of affairs to the influx of pauper labor into the country.

country. In 1869 the cigar-makers of the city struck against a reduction of their wages, and then the importation of foreign pauper labor oegan. One cigar manufacturer contributed $1,000 towards bringing over the Russian exiles in 1883. Jacoby of Fifty second street, employed a number of them. During the strike of last January against a 25 per cent, reduction, many of the witnesses before the committee of the union stated that they had been in America only s stated that they had been in America only a few months.

The pauper cigar-makers are found in Delancey, Rivington and neighboring streets. Americans cannot compete with them because they are not accustomed to herd like cattle as they do.

Moulds were introduced into the manufacture on the advent of the foreign paupers. There has been but a slight reduction in the dealers' price for hand-made cigars in the past twenty-four years.

There are 25,000 of these pauper cigar-makers in New York. Employers oblige them to live in houses provided for them. There are over fifty manufacturers in tenement-houses, and each employs from five hundred to six and each employs from five hundred to six hundred persons. They make from $5 to $6 a week. Joseph H. Wehrle, an electrician of Newark, N. J., testified that T. P. Howell & Co., manufacturers of enamelled leather in Newark, imported from England last year four workmen, as a committee of D. The affidavits of the four men were produced showing these facts, and Mr. Webrle stated that as the men had been induced to come to America on false representations the District Assembly 51 joined in sending them back to England.

Christopher Jefferson, another employee of Howell & Co., canvassed England for men, as there was a lockout at the Howell factory. Jefferson represented to them that there was no strike or lockout, and when they found that he had lied they returned to England.

must beg in order to obtain something to eat. And finally it was brought out that her earn-ings were not more than $200 a year for her family of four.

He Had a Good Alibi. Otto Heutschel, of 81 Watt street, charged Henry . Nolan, of 94 King street, with highway robbery in Jefferson Market Police Court this morning. He said he was on a racket last Thursday night, and while walking through East Eightynight, and while walking through East Eighty-third street Nolan strock him a terrible blow in the stomach and stole $16 from his trousers pocket. Nolan denied the charge and said he could prove an sibt. "I was fighting with my wife at 9 o'clock that night when he says I robeed him," he declared. Nevertheless Justice Patterson held him in $1,000 ball for trial.

Found His Body in the Well.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 15.—The body of George Campbell, thirty-four years old, was found at the bottom of a well on the farm of Charles Chiddister, in Connis Township, yesterday by a party of neighbors who dug out he well. Campbell disappeared in August of last year and was reported to have gone West. Frank House, who they worked for Mr. Chiddister, claimed he had bought a team and other effects from Campbell. An inquest will be held this afternova.

THE DAN LYONS DECISION.

Justice Patterson Couldn't Tell, This Morning, When It Would Be Rendered. Judge Patterson was asked by an Eventuo Would reporter to day when he would ren. der his decision in the case of Dan Lyons,

'I am considering the matter now," said

"I am considering the matter now," said the Judge. It was 11 a. m.

"Will you give your decision to-day?" asked the reporter,

"I cannot tell." was the answer.

Judge Patterson was closely closeled, after 10 a. m., in his private room in the Court-House. A venerable usher informed every one who inquired for him that he was not there; but he was, and an Evenino World reporter found it out and obtained admission after two public servants had declined to take any word to the Judge, because, as they said, he did not wish to be disturbed.

Aroused Over the Massacre of Italian Troops at Zaga-Netl, Near Massowah.

THY CARLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.1 ROWE, Aug. 15.—Indignation pervedes the country over the last massacre of Italian troops at Zaga-Nett, near Massowah. That the slaughter of Dogai should be repeated fills all hearts with mor-tification and sorrow.

The commanding general at Massowah is condemned for imprudence in sending so small a force into the paws of the foe. He has not even the excuse of treachery on the part of his allies, the Assaorting. They were under Adam Aga, and proved faithful throughout the fight, suffering like the Italians themselves.

The latest report from Massowah somewhat mit-igates the extent of the disaster, although not its shameful character. The battalion of Italian Bashi-Bazouks sent azainst Chief Debeb was 400 strong, under five commissioned officers. Of this force 221 have suc-

seeded in reaching Massowah, among them 57

The native allies who accompanied the expedi-tion numbered 300. Of these, 200 have returned, niueteen of whom are wounded. The five Italian officers are missing. Four are known to have been killed, and it is feared the fifth is a prisoner in the hands of a cruel enemy. These facts afford little consolation. They only serve to accentuate the horror of the defeat. The opposition press have opened attack on the entire cionial policy of the Government.

Does Not Like Navy Fare.

To the Editor of The Evening World People talk of having a larger navy, but first of all let the United States Government, in the name of humanity, give the poor sailors they have something better than the poorest of hard tack and coffee. Recollect, my citizen friend, that we do not get any milk and a very little sugar. I tell you it is hard to live on that and work in a fire-room where the thermometer registers 192 degrees, as it did on the monitor Terror coming from Philadelphia to Brooklyu. Many of the men were prostrated with the heat, and most of them have been sick ever since because of the resident Manjo, of the Toledo Railroad, Meets His Divorced Wife in a Restaurant, Has Her Locked Up for a Night and Takes Away Her Little Daughter-And the Law Said He Had the Right.

Domingo Manjo, Vice-President of the Poledo Railroad, entered a restaurant in University place last night. There he met his divorced wife, Catharine, whom he had not seen since Judge Barnard granted the decree of divorce in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn two years ago.

At that time he had been awarded the one. tody of their three children, on the ground that she had been a false wife to him and therefore not a fit person to take care of the children.

I wo of the little ones were boys-Domingo, now aged eleven, and Edward, aged eight. Mr. Manjo sent them to be educated in a college in Montreal. Beatrice, now six years college in alontreal. Beatrice, now six years old, remained with her mother, and was with her in the restaurant when her father met his former wife last night.

He at once attempted to take the little girl away. She screamed and refused to go with him. Her mother fought with the fury of a lioness to keep the only child she had left to love. Manjo brought in a policeman, to whom Manjo brought in a policeman, to whom he showed the decree of divorce granting him the custody of the children.

The big officer was evidently in sympathy with the pale, fragile little woman, who clasped the child so tenderly, but his duty was plain, and he advised her to set the little girl go with Manjo. She stubbornly refused.

"Then I'll have to lock you up," he said.

"The policeman took her to the Mercer street police station-house, where she was confined for the night.

She never slept a wink, but cried all the time. Her eyes were red and swollen from her weeping when she was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning. She had no lawyer to defend her. Her husband had one to state his case, though, and as by the power of the law he was critled to the child Justice Patterson told him to take her.

as by the power of the law he was entitled to the child Justice Patterson told him to take her.

He stooped down to do so, but the girl turned from him, and threw both arms around her mother, screaming "I won't, I won't go with you."

Then ensued a pitful spectacle, the strong man tearing the little child from the trembling mother's arms, while she sobbed convulsively and the little one clung to her with all her puny might.

At last Manjo got her away and hurried out of court with her. The mother followed, begging to kiss the child good by. Manjo wouldn't allow it.

Manjo lives in Toledo, and gets a salary of $6,000 a year. He married thirteen years ago, and four years ago he instituted the proceedings for divorce.

The case dragged for two years, when the wife's means were exhausted and she was obliged to let the case go by default.

She lives at 57 East. Eleventh street in this city, but has been keeping a boarding-house during the summer at Bath Beach, L. I.

Agent Burlando, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, said this morning that he knew she had been taking good care of the little girl.
